

Internet Contract between parents and kids

"I want to use the Internet safely and responsibly. I promise to respect the rules described below in order to protect myself from danger and my parents will help me keep these rules."

- I know that my parents want to ensure my safety on the Internet, so I will always hear their advice.
- I will not give any personal information about me (my name, my parents' name, the name of my school, my address, phone numbers ...) to any stranger I know on the Internet.
- I know that there are people on the Internet claiming to be other people and some adults claim that they are children. I will tell my parents when I meet new people on the internet. I will tell my parents prior to sending or answering any email I receive from these people.
- I will not buy or ask for anything on the Internet without the consent of my parents. I will not give information on our Banking card.
- I will not fill out any application on the web with personal information or parents' information without the consent of my parents.
- I will not get into discussions and debates with strangers on the internet.
- If I see something that I don't like or my parents don't allow me to see, I press the back key or cut off the Internet.
- I will tell my parents if I see people doing or saying nasty things to other children on the Internet.
- I will tell my parents about my secrets on the Internet.
- If I met someone on the Internet and he sent me anything (pictures or e-mails ...) I will tell my parents.
- I will not send anything to a stranger I met on the internet without taking the approval of my parents.
- If the people I met on the Internet is used expressions related to this board, tell my parents.
- I will be polite and tactful while chatting online.
- If someone asked me to do something I am not supposed to do, I will tell my parents.
- I will immediately tell my parents when I'm a victim of harassment or threat on the Internet.
- I will not contact anyone that I met on the Internet without telling my parents and I will not accept to meet anyone that I met on the Internet without the consent of my parents.
- I will not use any image or texts found on the Internet and claim it to be a mine.
- I will help my parents to learn more about the computer and the Internet.

I promise to respect these rules (the signing of the Child)

I promise to help my child to abide by these rules (the signing of a parent)